CARNEGIE—MILLSAPS LIBRARY

THE Carnegie-Millsaps Library, the Heart of the College, gift of the Carnegie Corporation. A recent donation of $10,000.00 from the Carnegie Corporation is now being spent in purchase of new books. These, with other annual gifts and accessions, bring the number of volumes above 20,000. The annual Faculty reception to the freshmen is held in this building and one of the most valuable features of the freshmen orientation program of the first three days is an introduction to the stacks, the files, the books themselves, and how to use the library.

PROFESSORS WHITE AND SANDERS

Foreword

THIS publication is intended to convey a correct impression of the varied facilities offered by Millsaps College for educational development after graduation from the high school. We hope to present all the essential information in regard to Millsaps which a high school graduate and his parents might wish to have before them in deciding the important question, "What Next?"

Whether the high school graduate should continue his educational training in college is not considered in this bulletin. This question will probably be answered by conditions, financial and otherwise. The American people as a whole are thoroughly convinced of the worthwhileness of a college education. Two considerations should, however, be borne in mind: (1) That profitable employment will still be difficult to secure for the young man just out of the high school in 1934. Probably economic conditions from now on will extend by several years the period before the high school boy can be absorbed into the ranks of the employed. (2) It costs less than ever before, and probably less than at any time in the future, to spend these depression years in college, getting ready for aggressive and successful endeavor when prosperity shall have returned.

We wish through this bulletin to convey an idea of the possibilities for personal and cultural development at Millsaps, the varied and interesting activities, personalities, and programs of study through which the college years here may be made fruitful and advantageous to the student who wishes to fit himself for achievement and influence in the life of his state and nation during the momentous days that lie ahead of us.

THE FACULTY

The library, the laboratory, and the faculty are the three elements that determine the character of any college. Of these three, the faculty is by far the most significant. Every great college has her great teachers. Millsaps has been fortunate enough to get and retain a group of truly creative teachers, who are more than scholars, more than instructors. They are inspiring friends and counsellors, sharing with their students the adventure of living and learning in these stirring days.

PROFESSORS SULLIVAN, HARRELL, LIN

Besides scholarship, skill in instruction and clarity in presentation of subjects, the college professor who is most helpful has a human side, an interesting and approachable personality, that makes him not only a taskmaster, but also a companionable guide in the pleasant fields of learning. In the large university this contact with the student is systematized and mechanized in the administrative offices of the deans and the personnel officers. The teachers can have few personal contacts with the thousands of students. In a smaller institution like Millsaps these administrative contacts are made by the professors themselves. Some of the interesting personalities the Millsaps student knows, are here introduced.

Professor J. Reese Lin, historian and philosopher, is perhaps the most frequently asked about by alumni. "Ducky," as he is universally known, is keenly humorous and pungent in comments on student behavior, political questions, the movements of the times, the whole range of life and thought both ancient and modern.

Lectures in a chemistry lecture room demand a strong voice and plenty of endurance, as well as complete knowledge of the subject; and these qualities are well combined in the person of Dr. J. M. Sullivan, professor of chemistry and geology. Dr. Sullivan, who is called "Groot" because he bears the middle name of Magruder, displays these qualities attractively; his voice booms forth convincingly as he demonstrates a chemical formula; his endurance is legend, for he leads many parties a year on field trips of practical value in the study of the geology of our own state; and his knowledge of his subjects is unquestionably exact. Yet he is ever seeking additional truths, which will lead him and his students further on the pathway to freedom. Several times a year he speaks in chapel, bringing reasons for his Christian faith that appeal to the minds of his hearers as well as to their hearts.

On one occasion the professor of physics, G. L. Harrell, was late for a train. He explained that his clock had stopped. And a fellow faculty member rejoiced that for once Mr. Harrell had made a mistake; he said that he would have felt sorry if it had been anyone else, but he was glad that Mr. Harrell was the erring one. However, this story implies that exactness and punctuality are strong points of this department head. And valuable points they are, for in his charge are the records of the college, and each student is dependent upon the advice of Mr. Harrell as to hours of credit, standing in classes, and other phases of the registrar's duties. The average freshman does not at once come to know Professor Harrell, because usually he does not have occasion for conferences as to grades, nor classes in physics and astronomy; but before the year is out he realizes that the registrar and professor of physics is an important person on the campus, and before the time of graduation he has had many talks with him, with reference to courses to take, hours necessary for graduation, and similar problems of the advanced student.

No "gloomy dean" is Dr. B. E. Mitchell, dean of the college and professor of mathematics. Dr. Mitchell, head of the advisory committee for students, is keenly alive to the problems of college life, gives a ready ear to the excuses for absences that must be made to him personally, and is sympathetic without being sentimental. Nothing is worse in his eyes than sham, and this commands respect from the students, for essentially that is the students' attitude, also. As professor of mathematics, Dean Mitchell, a doctor of philosophy from Columbia, constantly pursues study in his chosen field, and seeks to instill into the minds of his students a desire for further information in this most exact of all the sciences.

CLASS PRESIDENTS

Recognition by Standardizing Agencies

A student who wants to be sure of the quality of the instruction he will receive need not, however, depend on his own judgment and investigation alone. There are official agencies which certify these things. Millsaps College has been a member of the Southern Association of Colleges since 1912, never starred for any deficiency, never on probation, its standing never questioned. Millsaps is also on the fully approved list of the Association of American University Women and all its women graduates are entitled to membership in this Association. The college is also on the fully approved list of the Association of American Universities. A representative of this Association, Dean Gordon J. Laing, speaking at Centennial Founder's Day last May used these words:

"The Association sends you its warmest congratulations on this most auspicious occasion of your Founder's centennial. In doing so it is not merely adopting a form of words or endeavoring to say the pleasant thing. It is speaking out of a detailed and exact knowledge of what your College has accomplished in the past and of what it is planning for the future. It is the business of the Association to know these things.

"No student can go through your College with its well-balanced and wisely ordered curriculum without getting that breadth of view that is the very essence of higher education."

Millsaps is the only institution in Mississippi on the approved list of the Association of American Universities.

What Leading Educators Think of Millsaps College

J. H. KIRKLAND, Chancellor of Vanderbilt University:

"Millsaps College has a recognized standing among the colleges of the South. The faculty of Millsaps is composed of men of recognized scholarship and ability."

A. B. DINWIDDIE, President of Tulane University:

"I regard this as one of the best of our Southern colleges. It is doing honest, thorough and effective work and has always in view the ideals of sound scholarship."

W. P. FEW, President of Duke University:

"I have known about Millsaps College for many years. I have visited the college and seen it at close range. Altogether, I consider Millsaps as among the best of the colleges of the South."

HENRY N. SNYDER, President of Wofford College:

"I have known the work of Millsaps College for a good many years. In my judgment, there is not a better small liberal arts college in the Southern States."

OFFICIAL STATEMENTS ABOUT MILLSAPS COLLEGE FROM NATIONAL AUTHORITIES

(1926) DR. M. V. O'SHEA, University of Wisconsin:

"Millsaps students are distinctly in the lead (in Mississippi) in educational achievement as well as intellectual ability."

(1928) DR. B. WARREN BROWN, University of Chicago:

"The reputation of the institution for scholarship provides indirect selection A superior grade of students is drawn to the institution by its own solicitation."

(1929) DR. W. M. RANDALL, American Library Association:

Report favorable to Carnegie Corporation grant.

(1930) DEAN RAYMOND WALTERS, Swarthmore College:

"You at Millsaps are doing a good work in a fine and courageous way."

(1933) DEAN GORDON LAING, University of Chicago:

"Your alumni carry away a soundness of judgment, a liberality of attitude and a wealth of idealism that will raise the standard of intelligence in the community to which they belong."

Student Activities

Around the vivid intellectual activity of the laboratory, the library, and the class room, the life of the campus flows in varied "student activities" which give every student an opportunity for diversion and expression. The educational value of these spontaneous expressions of cultural interests is recognized by the college and in some cases credit toward the degree is granted. In practically all of these cultural and diversional activities there is a fellowship and co-operation of faculty and students; each of them is, in a sense, coached by some faculty member who shares an avocational interest with students of similar tastes.

THE MILLSAPS BAND

MUSIC

Besides the work of the strong music department there are various volunteer organizations. The Millsaps band is affiliated with the 106th Engineers Band of the National Guard. Instruments, uniforms, and music are furnished by the government. Students who make this band are paid a substantial sum for practice periods, and each summer are given a two weeks' camp and extra pay for drills. This band has gained high praise from the authorities. Its service in many colorful and interesting state and civic events in and near Jackson does not interfere with successful college work. The Millsaps Band was last year given a trip to Washington and played a notable part in the Inaugural Ceremonies.

Under the directorship of Dr. A. P. Hamilton and Mr. Alvin J. King, there are two glee clubs and a choral society which present programs in Jackson and over the state.

DRAMATICS

The Millsaps Players have for many years given those with dramatic abilities the finest opportunity for self-expression, staging several plays each year in Jackson and other Mississippi towns. A beautiful historical pageant was given as a part of the Centennial Celebration last May.

DEBATE

Two literary societies constitute a training ground for debate and oratory. Millsaps debaters make numerous trips for joint debates and have for three years achieved high rank in the national tournament of Pi Kappa Delta. For the past three years a representative of Millsaps has won the M. I. O. A. contest in oratory.

WRITING

The weekly publication of the student body, the Purple and White, and the annual, the Bobashela, afford opportunity for publication for those interested in writing. Two literary clubs, both of them affiliated with a national, are made up of those who have achieved real ability in writing. They are Sigma Upsilon and Chi Delta Phi.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

RELIGION

The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are constituted in their membership of representative and leading members of the student body. Besides sponsoring various lectures and religious services, they provide, through co-operation with the various churches, a varied program of religious and devotional expression.

DEPARTMENTAL

There are three or four organizations that give expression to voluntary interest in phases of study, viz., the Pre-medical Club, the Science Club, the Classical Club and the International Relations Club and the Eta Sigma, the scholastic honor society.

Practically every one of these vital organizations is chartered as a local chapter of a national society so that their members may feel that they are identified with student interests that are national in character.

Finally, four national fraternities and four national sororities provide for friendly intercourse and diversion.

During the past two years, the position of Millsaps has been quite prominent in the National Student Federation and the president of the Millsaps student body was also regional president of the N. S. F. The Millsaps representatives naturally played an influential part in the Annual Convention this year at Washington, D. C.

Athletics

Millsaps is not an "athletic" college, and has no aspiration to become one. We do, however, give every legitimate assistance and honor to our athletes. Jobs are awarded to them and loans secured for them, not on the basis of athletic prowess alone, but with every proper consideration of scholastic fitness, honesty, and fidelity to duty. Every member of a varsity team is awarded a college sweater and a letter. The M Club is an honorable organization, membership in which is much coveted. To members of the freshman athletic teams, sweaters bearing the class numerals are awarded. Varsity and freshman teams in football, basketball, baseball, and tennis, make attractive trips, throughout Mississippi and into neighboring states.

MILLSAPS MAJORS DETRAIN IN MIAMI

T. L. Gaddy is head coach of football and baseball. B. O. Van Hook has charge of varsity basketball and freshman baseball; Melvin Richardson coaches freshman football and basketball, and varsity track. These men are not only excellent coaches, but also kindly guardians and friends of the athletes placed under their instruction. Mrs. W. O. Brumfield gives expert instruction to the girls in mass athletics, and coaches the girls' basketball teams. Our girls play an interesting schedule of games at home and abroad. Sweaters and letters are awarded to members of their teams

A schedule of intramural athletics each spring enlists the interest and participation of ninety per cent of our student body. Contesting teams of fraternities, dormitories, town, etc., meet in regularly scheduled games in competition for a silver loving cup. Basketball, volley ball, indoor baseball, horseshoe pitching, tennis, and track are among the sports featured in the intramural meets. From the intramural teams, selected students engage like groups from Mississippi College in a general contest of many sports, the winning school to hold for one session the loving cup emblematic of victory. These games enlist from our students a participation and enthusiasm almost universal.

Methods of Instruction

The College holds membership in the Association of American Colleges and the American Council on Education. Through these avenues it keeps abreast of the continual research through which educational procedures are being improved. Also our own improvements are continually being made. Through outlines and syllabi the objectives of each course offered are being clarified. The library is becoming a more and more important adjunct to instruction and two trained librarians so co-operate with the instructors that the number of books withdrawn by students has doubled several times in the past few years. The large numbers of new books recently added through the Carnegie Corporation grant has greatly increased the effectiveness of the library. The science departments have new and modernly equipped laboratories administered modernly. For several years the college has rendered special tutorial assistance to individual students through the Coaching School. Professor J. B. Price and a competent corps of assistants are available to guide the study of any freshman or sophomore who wants this help. The Millsaps Faculty has a permanent committee on improvement of instruction.

The intimacy and fellowship between instructors and students which is characteristic of the smaller college is not left to chance alone. Especially the contacts of the freshman with congenial faculty friends is provided for through the freshman dean, Dr. A. P. Hamilton, and the freshman council. Each freshman has, besides the freshman dean, a specially appointed faculty counsellor. The aim of these relationships is to make each freshman feel that he has a faculty friend who is eager to help him and advise him in any problem. This does not prevent, however, frequent contacts with other faculty members through the association of the class room and various campus activities.

Opportunities of the City of Jackson

The intellectual and personal development of the student may be strongly fostered by the community in which he lives. The city of Jackson, the capital and largest city of the state, affords many advantages. Here the pageant of modern American life unfolds in interesting procession day by day. All movements and ideas of statewide and national scope come to Jackson as the metropolis of this area. National leaders, government officials, church dignitaries, foreign envoys, in making itineraries over the nation generally come to Jackson and often make at Jackson the only appearance in Mississippi. Many national conventions are held here, such as the General Conference of the Methodist Church which will be in session in May of this year. In the field of art and music, also, Jackson is a cultural capital. The annual meetings of the Mississippi Educational Association, the state legislature in its biennial sessions, the State Fair, are typical of the opportunities afforded to the student to extend his knowledge and interests in touch with the life of our times. From far beneath the surface of the Millsaps campus, nature's great boon of fuel from the Jackson natural gas field flows forth and is distributed over the South all the way from Atlanta to New Orleans, while overhead the American Airways transcontinental planes roar east, west, north, and south each day bearing many of the notables whose visits to Jackson keep us in touch with the life of the whole world. This is a symbol of the extra curricular education that is available to the Millsaps students.

Finally, the churches and congregations of Jackson, both numerically and in spiritual and intellectual vigor are dominant influences in the religious life of the state. Here you are at the center of things. Here your very hours of relaxation and diversion may be used to build up rather than dissipate your resources.

Department of Music

In the Department of Music at Millsaps, organized in 1928, the same high standard of academic excellence is maintained as in the other departments of the college. The cultural value of music, both theoretical and practical, is now generally recognized, and courses in music are counted toward both the A. B. and B. S. Degree, and in fact may be made the major study, as much as 24 semester hours being credited. Additional music courses can also be taken, within the maximum permissible load, and counted as post graduate study. The completion of the full music course for graduation in the music department will, however, require a year of study beyond the baccalaureate degree.

PRE-VOCATIONAL COURSES

Millsaps is primarily a liberal arts college and it is strongly urged that the full B. A. or B. S. course be completed before professional work is undertaken. But the needs of those who wish to take up professional courses after one or two years in the college have been considered. There have been organized Pre-medical and other similar courses such as Pre-dental, Pre-engineering, etc. In these the Mathematics, Chemistry, Biology, and Physics courses necessary for full recognition by the universities are given in the freshman and sophomore years. This work is recognized by Tulane, Vanderbilt, the University of Virginia, and other professional schools. A laboratory fee is charged for each of these courses.

BOARDING FACILITIES

There are three dormitories for men and one for women. Founder's Hall, situated on North State Street, is reserved for freshmen. Burton Hall and Galloway Hall connected by a colonnade, are on the South end of the campus. They command a fine view of the city, with the great dome of the new capitol prominent in the foreground. On and near this point of the campus are also the fraternity chapter houses with quarters for some of the members. All the lodgings are readily accessible to the dining hall adjoining Galloway Hall. Table board averages $15.00 per month.

Set in a grove of tall shading oaks, furnishing adequate conveniences of all kinds, and close to the college library and class rooms, the dormitory for girls provides an attractive and convenient home for women students. Mrs. Mary B. Stone, Dean of Women has an apartment in this house as well as an office in the Administration Building, and has charge of the interests of all women students. Room and board and matron service are furnished at $25.00 per month.

COSTS

In conformity with its charter, Millsaps has always maintained a policy of keeping costs of education as low as is consistent with effective work and with income from church contributions and endowment. As the latter sources of support have not kept pace with the increase of attendance, it has been necessary to increase the tuition from time to time. The increase of $25.00 last year in tuition and fees was more than offset by decreases in board and room rent, so that the possible minimum for all expenses ($288.00) is less than at any time since 1919. The average cost of $328.00 is $136.00 less than the average cost ($464.00) of the ten best Southern Methodist colleges, and less than any of them except Wofford. It is $171.00 less per year than the average ($498.00) of Southern colleges which like Millsaps are on the approved list of the Association of American Universities. Total costs for the average student are as follows:

Tuition and all fees (except laboratory fees)	$168.00
Room for year	25.00
Board at $15.00 per month for nine months	135.00
Total	$328.00

Note.—Students whose average grade for the last two years of high school is 20% above the pass grade will be charged $40.00 less tuition than indicated above, making the total expense for such students $288.00. Students whose average grade is less than 8% above the pass grade for the last two years in their high school, will pay $25.00 more than the average, making total costs $353.00.

EARLY REGISTRATION

It is a good thing for the student and for the college to get decision made and the matter settled early in the year. As an inducement for early registration, the college will give a ten-dollar reduction to those students who send in the registration fee before May 1st. Mail your application with check for $15.00 and a credit of $25.00 on your next year's fees will be entered to your account. By notifying the Bursar before August 1, reservation may be cancelled and refund of prepaid fees secured.

We have attempted to furnish in this bulletin all the information necessary for a decision. But if further information than that contained here is desired, write for catalogue. Address,

STUDENT BODY VOTES FOR ERA

Poll Reveals Sympathy for Suspended L.S.U. Eds.;
Ramsey to Meeting.

The present generation of Millsaps students have very definite convictions about vital issues of the day and express themselves in a decisive manner. A personal questionnaire, submitted by the National Student Federation of America, reveals that 243 Millsaps students sympathize with the students suspended from Louisiana State University, and only 16 sympathize with the administration of that institution.

To the question, "Should students be restrained by their institutions from participating in public political controversies and demonstrations, as long as they keep within the law," 35 voted Yes, and 257 voted No.

Concerning the matter of military training in Colleges, 14 were in favor of compulsory training, 207 wanted to make it optional, and 75 were in favor of abolishing the practice.

Nearly 100 Millsaps students have part time jobs on the campus under the supervision of the FERA, and the opinion of the students in regard to the way these funds are being administered is of some interest. 245 stated that they were satisfied with the present method of distribution, and 37 were dissatisfied. 285 students also expressed themselves as being in favor of the continuation of the FERA, for at least one more year, and only 5 were in favor of the program being abandoned after this year.

To turn to matters of a more public nature, we find that 107 students are in favor of increasing the military forces of the country, and 172 voted No. 178 students believe the United States should be a member of the World Court, and 49 oppose the idea. 163 favor U. S. membership in the League of Nations and 79 say No. "Should the United States pursue a policy of full participation in World trade, or of economic self-sufficiency." Trade—200; Sufficiency—55.

Paul Ramsey, president of the Millsaps Student Body, will cast this ballot at the National Student Federation of America, when that body convenes in Boston, December 28 to January 1.

"MAJOR" PREACHERS

Two sons of Millsaps who are members of the same district in the Mississippi Conference, Bruner Hunt, pastor of Capitol Street Church in Jackson, one of the largest congregations in the Conference; and W. N. Thomas, chaplain at the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Maryland.

CLEGG FIGHTS CRIME IN U. S.

Alumnus Aids in Important Captures for Department of Justice.

Hugh H. Clegg, '20, is right in the thick of Uncle Sam's fight on crime. A few weeks ago he figured in the capture of Mrs. Baby Face Nelson and her party.

The 1920 edition of the Millsaps Bobashela gives a summary of Hugh's college record. He was a debater, declaimer, orator, member of the Glee Club, member of the Science Club, member of the Y. M. C. A., member of all one club, member of Sigma Upsilon, member of Kappa Alpha, member of Lamar Literary Society, Tennis player, Assistant in Latin and Chemistry, Tribbett Teaching Fellow, Member of Athletic Council, member of Pan Hellenic Council, and Editor of the Bobashela. Under his picture was the following inscription, "Hugh has done well at Millsaps, his record is one to be proud of."—A rather conservative statement on the part of his biographer. Hugh is making another fine record with the Department of Justice.

Majors Whip Spring Hill in Night Game to Thrill Grads.

Several hundred alumni and friends of the College visited the campus, November 11, for the seventh annual Homecoming Day. The program began at noon when a Peace Program was presented in the Chapel to commemorate Armistice Day, and ended that evening when the Millsaps Majors took the measure of the Spring Hill Badgers on the lighted grid-iron.

The speakers of the Peace Program were Bill Caraway, Andrew Gallman, Harris Collins, and Paul Ramsey. Musical numbers were rendered by Miss Magnolia Simpson, '24, Miss Mary Velma Simpson, '32, and Miss Frank Rae Darden, member of the present Senior class.

The Dramatic Club had charge of the afternoon part of the program, and two plays were presented under the direction of Professor Ross H. Moore, '23, and Professor M. C. White. The cast of one play was composed of Freshmen and the other of Upperclassmen.

At four o'clock several receptions were given at the same time, and

ALUMNI MAKE GOOD PASTORS

Millsaps Grads Occupy Many Pulpits; Not Confined to M. E. Church.

This issue of the Bulletin is respectfully dedicated to the Alumni engaged in the ministerial profession.

Millsaps College is a Methodist institution, and the majority of her minister sons preach the doctrines of that faith, but several prominent graduates occupy the pulpits of other denominations.

From a list which is known to be incomplete we select first the name of Julian B. Feibleman, '18 Rabbi of a Jewish Synagogue in Philadelphia, Penn. Julian is a native of Jackson, and during his College career he was prominent in student activities, at one time serving as editor of the Purple and White.

Jones Hamilton, '26, better known as "Jonie," is remembered by his class mates as an outstanding student, and he is now Rector of the Episcopal Church in Hattiesburg.

Horace L. Villee, '23, was editor of the Purple and White, Tribbett Teaching Fellow, and leader in other student affairs during his four years at Millsaps. He is now pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Winona.

Several near graduates, students who finished their work in other institutions, are preaching in Baptist, Presbyterian, Christian, and Episcopal pulpits. These men have been good living advertisements for Millsaps College in their respective communities.

In the North Mississippi Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at least 34 members are graduates or former students of Millsaps, as shown from the list of appointments published in the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

J. M. Guinn, '10, Eupora.
W. L. Atkins, former student, Fulton.

R. E. Wasson, former student, serves the Bruce and Pittsboro churches.

W. R. Hammontree, Christian Education Extension Secretary, is a former student at Millsaps.

W. M. Langley, '04, Ackerman.

R. P. Nebblett, '01, Brooksville.

S. H. Caffey, former student who later finished at the University of Mississippi, West Point.

J. D. Wroten, '13, is Presiding Elder of the Corinth district.

MILLSAPS COLLEGE BULLETIN

JACKSON, MISSISSIPPI
Volume XVII NOVEMBER, 1934 Number 11

Entered as second class matter, November 21, 1917, at the Post Office in Jackson, Mississippi under the Act of Congress

ENROLLING ALUMNI OF 1939

The College is already laying its plans for enrollment of freshmen and juniors (from the junior colleges) for the session of 1935-36. Those entering now, will be the alumni of 1939. The graduates of former years are vitally interested in the sort of Millsaps students who are to be their successors as the years pass. There is scarcely any way by which your zeal for Millsaps can express itself more definitely and beneficially than by helping to enlist promising freshmen in the incoming class of next fall.

There are now 1400 Millsaps alumni and many thousand former students. Most of us are located in Mississippi, many connected with the high schools. Let each alumnus or alumna definitely undertake to find one high-class freshman and see that he enrolls at Millsaps this fall. The results will be revolutionary for the freshman class of 1935-36.

Gilbert Cook, President of the Alumni Association, brought six boys from the Canton High School to the football banquet and says he is going to land four or five of them for Millsaps. (One of them is Gilbert, Jr.) That sets a mark for some of you others to shoot at. The alumnus who aspires to be president of the association next year will have to beat Gilbert. Get your name on the honor roll of alumni who have sent the most freshmen to Millsaps. We should have at least 200 alumni who will pledge themselves to get one freshman for Millsaps if not more. In the next Alumni Bulletin (April number) we will publish the roll of entries. Write G. L. "Red" Harrell, Registrar, to put you down.

Then, select your candidate with care. Although times are hard, the College does not need just one more registration. Select one who has made a definite success of his high school work; one who has character and purpose; preferably one who has shown initiative and personality in some form of extra-curricular activity, such as athletics, debate, music, writing, or religious interest. Then write the College about him, giving name and address of parent or guardian. The College will do its part, sending catalogue, bulletins, and letters. The first bulletin to high school graduates will go out early in January. Send Harrell notice of your participation in this campaign at once.

HERE AND THERE WITH THE ALUMNI

Harvey B. Heidelberg, '03, superintendent of schools at Clarksdale, was elected to the presidency of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, for the 1935-1936 session. Another son of Millsaps is recognized in a big way by the Educational Fraternity, and his honor is a credit to his Alma Mater and the state of Mississippi.

Wade Stokes, Jr., 27, is manager of a Greenwood Hotel. During student days, Wade was Professor Harrell's right hand man. A few months ago Wade came back to Jackson and married Lou Ada Williams, one of his classmates.

Mrs. E. B. Boatner, nee Maxine Tull, graduate of 1924, is making a name for herself in the field of Education and Journalism. She has charge of the Arts and Crafts Department in a New York City school for the Deaf, and during her spare time she edits The Litterateur, official magazine of Chi Delta Phi, national honorary Sorority.

Mrs. Boatner, during her student days, took an active part in student activities, being a member of Kappa Delta, charter member of Chi Delta Phi, writer on Purple and White and Bobashela staffs, and Y. W. C. A. worker.

JEWISH RABBI

Julian B. Feibleman, '18, a native of Jackson, is Rabbi of a Jewish Synagogue in Philadelphia, Penn. All of his schoolmates, and old time members of the Faculty, remember Julian as one of the most outstanding and best loved students of his time.

Shelley Bailey, '25, one of the best all round athletes in the history of the College, is now located in the school at Forest Hill. Shelley, or Senor as he is better known to the members of his own generation, has attended all the football games during the past season.

Dr. A. A. Kern, former Professor of English at Millsaps College, is just as proud of his Alma Mater as any other son of the College although his degree is honorary. He writes, in part, to Dr. Key: Glad to see that Millsaps celebrated my fifty-fifth birthday by beating Mississippi College in football. Thirteen is doubtless more than ever regarded as an unlucky number on the Clinton Campus.

Archiebald Shields, '28, formerly of Brandon, is now in New York as a member of the Editorial Staff of Henry Holt and Co., publishers. Archiebald, after a splendid record at Millsaps, went to the University of North Carolina where he completed the work for his doctorate while teaching part time in the Romance Language Department of that institution. After graduation, with distinction, he served for some time as an Instructor.

Thomas G. "Fatty" Pears, '20, came down to Jackson from his school at Water Valley, to see the Majors lick the Choctaws last Thanksgiving Day. Fatty is teaching Science in the High School of that city. He renewed his acquaintance with several Old Timers of the Faculty like Professor Lin, Dr. Mitchell, and Dr. Sullivan.

MILLSAPS GRADUATE IS CHURCH EDITOR

W. L. Duren, '02, is the new editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, official organ of the Mississippi, North Mississippi and Louisiana Conferences. He is author of several books—one of the latest being a biography of Bishop Galloway, the beloved churchman whose name is closely linked with the early history of Millsaps.

Dr. Duren holds two degrees from Millsaps. He won his B.A. in 1902, and thirty-two years later his Alma Mater, in token of appreciation for his great work, gave him an honorary degree.

Let us always remember that "we can make divinely real, the highest form of our ideal."

We will not ask for quarter, we will not ask for mercy. We must out-think, out-live, out-love, out-believe the antagonists of our faith.

Friends of Dr. Kern's enjoyed seeing him when he was here to receive the degree from his former college.

Luther Bennett, Connie Hozendorf, and Henry Lewis, all members of the 1934 graduating class won scholarships to the Duke Divinity School. They will have a hard time living up to the standards of R. R. Branton, 27, Roy Grisham, 27, and Martell Twitchell, 30, who preceded them at Duke; but all reports from that institution indicate that the new men are making a good start in the right direction.

MAJORS WHIP CHOCS AS SEASON ENDS WITH SEVEN VICTORIES, ONLY ONE LOSS

State Suffers Defeat in Successful Season For Millsaps.

With the thrilling 13-0 victory over the Choctaws on Thanksgiving Day, the Majors of 1934 completed one of the most successful seasons in the history of the institution. With a small but veteran squad, Coach Tranny Lee Gaddy directed the boys through a tough schedule of 10 games and they came through with seven wins, one loss, and two ties.

Delta State was the first victim, 21-0. The game was played under the lights on Alumni field, and the Majors had an easy time, with the reserves playing at least part of the hour. Southwestern Louisiana Institute, the following week, was a little more difficult to handle but the boys took them 19-0.

In the State College game, played at Starkville, the Majors created a stir in the Sports World by administering a decisive drubbing to the Maroon Bull Dogs, who were doped to win by at least two touchdowns. The score of 7-6 does not give a true picture of the struggle, because the Majors played in Bull Dog territory at least fifty minutes of the total sixty. Bob Womack's educated toe furnished the margin of victory when he kicked from placement the extra point after touchdown. This same individual again saved the day for his team the next week when the Majors defeated Murray State Teachers of Kentucky 7-6. This was the first defeat in 17 games for the Kentucky Thoroughbreds.

Birmingham-Southern, one of the few undefeated teams of the 1934 season, defeated the Majors 28-13, after trailing by two touchdowns for almost half of the game. State Teachers College, at Hattiesburg, held the Majors to a 0-0 tie. Before this game Coach Pooley Hubert scouted Millsaps in every game, and he knew all of their plays as well as any member of the Millsaps squad.

L. P. I., at Ruston, La., another jinx for the majors, gave plenty of opposition, but finally gave in to the tune of 13-6. This was a costly game for Millsaps because Felder, star half back was injured enough to be kept out of the Home Coming game with Spring Hill the following week. However, in spite of his absence the Majors were able to take the game 9-7.

Southwestern of Memphis was responsible for the other deadlock decision 0-0. Without the aid of Felder, the Majors did not have the punch necessary to push over a touchdown, but that stalwart Senior Line was able to withstand all that Southwestern could put forth.

In the Choctaw game, the crowning event of the season, Gabe Felder, wearing a mask to protect his injured face stayed in the game long enough to carry the ball over the goal line two times, and then his team mates successfully resisted every thrust of the fighting Choctaws. Seven Seniors in the Line; Regan, Ward, Mier, Womack, Godwin, Monroe, and Sneed, played the full sixty minutes and their defensive work gave the Major supporters a thrill that will be hard to forget. Several times, in desperate attempts to score, the Choctaws were able to advance the ball by passing, and taking advantage of breaks, to dangerous territory but every time that Senior Line stood the test and took the ball on downs.

GOLF COURSE PROJECT STARTS THIS MONTH

Prospects for a new Golf course on the campus loomed greater than ever last week as plans for the beginning of the course were announced by Orrin Swayze, '28. Work on the project is to start sometime during the month of December.

This is to be a regulation course according to F. E. Allen, local golf authority and Country Club pro., who passed on the plans. A committee made up of alumni and friends of the College will have charge of the upkeep of the course. Students who use the course will be required to pay a small fee to be used for maintenance.

The alumni members who will serve with Orrin on the committee are: Jimmie Campbell, '24, and Garner Lester, '19, S. B. Lawrence and R. L. Ezelle are the other members of the Committee.

Alumnus Sees Score, Writes Alma Mater

The Thanksgiving Day victory of the Majors over the Choctaws inspired another friend and former student of Millsaps to write his congratulations. Dr. B. S. Burks of Crewe, Virginia, read the score in one of his state papers and immediately his thoughts turned to Millsaps where he was a student from 1910 through 1912. He played outfield on the baseball team, and he figured in some of the wonderful victories of the S. I. A. A. championship teams that played for Millsaps then. After leaving this part of the country he attended Washington and Lee, later enlisted for service during the World War, came back to Medical College of Virginia, and prepared himself for his profession.

Bo on Hand to See Majors Down Chocs

Bo Holloman, '34, the third member of that family to be called by that particular name, came back home for the Thanksgiving game. Bo had a hard time staying on the sidelines because last year he played a great game and was instrumental in winning for Millsaps. This particular Bo is also the third member of his family to direct, from the quarterback position, a winning Millsaps eleven. Last year he won the trophy for most valuable player, and later was elected to the honor of Master Major.

12 MEN ENTER ALUMNI RANKS

Womack Wins Newell Trophy; Seniors Mainstays of '34 Grid Team.

Twelve men who helped make football history for the Millsaps Majors of 1934, graduated from the team and will pass into the ranks of the Alumni Association next June. In every respect they are the best allround men who ever fought for the Purple and White.

B. O. Van Hook, athletic director of the College, stated that he had no trouble finding a list of opponents for 1935, because the coaches of other institutions know about the clean play and good sportsmanship of the 1934 Majors. Seniors are largely responsible for that record, as well as the seven victories for the season.

In the line, eight Seniors did most of the playing, throughout the major part of the season. In the Mississippi College game, Thanksgiving Day, not a single substitution was made in the line, that successfully resisted every thrust of the Choctaws. That group was Regan and Sneed at the ends, Captain Ward and Mier at the guards positions, Godwin and Womack as tackles, and last but by no means least, Alternate-Captain Monroe at center. Bob Womack was awarded the Newell trophy as the most valuable player. It was his educated toe which furnished the margin of victory in at least three games. Monroe played sixty minutes of every game except the first one. Kenneth Terrell, another Senior, saw some service in the line.

In the backfield, Gabe Felder, all SIAA halfback was the only regular man to finish his career. Wilson Vinson fullback, a letterman, will be missed next fall.

HOME COMING DAY IS SUCCESS HERE

the visitors went from one to the other. The Faculty received the visitors in the Lobby of Galloway Hall, and all the Fraternities held Open House.

The Millsaps-106 Engineers Band gave a concert on the football field at 5:30, and one of the best features of the whole program came next—a barbecue supper tendered by the College, and served by the wives of the Faculty.

The fighting Millsaps Majors had charge of the program from 7:30 on, and their contribution was one of the most thrilling battles ever seen on Alumni Field. A stubborn hard driving Spring Hill team furnished the opposition, and it was tough opposition. Bob Womack's kicking foot again was the margin of victory as the Majors won after a field goal from placement, 9-7.

Martell H. Twitchell, '30, Abbeville, is an ex-president of the Millsaps Ministerial League. At the end of his Senior year he was awarded a scholarship in the Theological School of Duke University.

Frank M. Casey, '32, Roxie.

L. F. Alford, former student, Silver City.

J. B. Cain, '14, Yazoo City.

The records of the Alumni office in regard to Millsaps ministers in other states are not complete. Doubtless there are scores of preachers who have taken up that profession after leaving their Alma Mater, and they have not communicated with us. The following list is known to be incomplete, but it will give some idea about the contribution of Millsaps to the Christian Churches.

C. W. Alford, '22, New Port Richey, Fla.

D. L. Blackwell, '30, Beaumont, Texas.

O. W. Bradley, '05, Grace Methodist Church, Houston, Texas.

R. R. Branton, '28, is pastor of St. Marks Methodist Church in New Orleans. Branton is remembered at Millsaps for his debating prowess. It was during his career that Millsaps came back into her place of leadership in forensics.

Brooks, '09, San Pedro, Calif.

Robert M. Brown, '10, Mangum Memorial Methodist Church in Shreveport, La.

Frank A. Calhoun, '25, Wartrace, Texas.

Henry T. Carley, '98, Monroe, La. Dr. Carley was, for several years, editor of the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Allen S. Cameron, Tipton, Okla.

V. E. Chalfant, '26, Bald Knob, Ark. Chalfant was one of the best all round men to finish at Millsaps. He was a star football player, and student leader in forensic, social, and scholastic activities. He was the first man to be elected Master Major, an honor which has been bestowed annually, ever since, upon some outstanding student leader selected by the student body.

Robert A. Clark, '01, Dyersburg, Tenn.

H. T. Cunningham, '01, Kerrville, Texas.

Nolan B. Harmon, '14, Hillsboro, Va. Dr. Harmon is remembered for his address, at the Millsaps Alumni meeting, held during the General Conference, on the roof garden of the Robert E. Lee Hotel.

R. T. Henry, '15, China, Tenn.

E. L. Hillman, '15, Durham, N. C. He was a delegate from that division of Southern Methodism to the General Conference, last spring.

W. W. Holmes, '00, New Orleans, La.

Y. H. Kim, '27, Wan San City, Korea. Kim was the first honest to goodness Korean to enter Millsaps.

D. W. Poole, '24, Manghum, La. Another good all round Major. He was a star Basketball and Track man. It was said of Willie Poole during his student days that he was the man of the hour, always ready to "pray," "run," or "fight," as the occasion demanded.

J. A. McKee, '07, Walla Walla, Wash. He made us a visit during the General Conference.

T. E. Marshall, '00, Arrington, Tenn. This man failed to register at the Millsaps Get-To-Gether Meeting, and then wrote us a nice letter "jacking us up" for failing to include his name among those present. Our neglect produced good results, because we want letters more than anything else.

W. M. O'Donnell, '16, Stanton, Tenn.

H. M. Johnson, '19, Bogalusa, La.

J. S. Pursell, '05, Dade City, Fla.

R. R. Fikes, Charlotte, N. C.

C. N. Guice, '00, Atkins, Ark.
